

Use this form to withdraw the Biobank consent you have provided and/or to object to the processing of your samples and related information in the Biobank in accordance with Article 21 of the European General Data Protection Regulation. You can also proactively prohibit the transfer of your samples and information to the THL Biobank and their use in biobank research. In all cases, the prohibition received by the THL Biobank will also lead to the removal of your personal data from the biobank's registers. However, the information on the prohibition itself will remain stored in the Biobank. The withdrawal of THL Biobank consent and the exercise of the right to object only apply to the THL Biobank.

The prohibition will take effect once the THL Biobank has received the signed form. After this, samples and data will no longer be used in the Biobank nor will they be disclosed to new biobank studies.

Information on the person submitting the notification:

Name of the sample donor _____

Social security number _____

Address _____

Place and date _____

Signature _____

All samples and data in THL Biobank have been collected in the context of scientific research.

Although I do not want to be involved in biobanking, my samples and data can still be used in the original research or study I participated in

Yes No

Fill in the form and send the signed form free of charge to: THL Biopankki, Tunnus 5022238, 00003 Vastauslähetys. Your signature will confirm your identity on the prohibition form. The Biobank will send an acknowledgement of having received the notification.

Reception of the biobank prohibition (THL Biobank fills in):

Place and date _____

Signature of the recipient _____

Printed name and title _____